British Observer With French Issues Report

London, April 2.—The official British observer with the French army in its latest report which was issued tonight, compared the results achieved by the French offensive in Champagne with the objects with which the operations were undertaken. The objects, he says, were to keep a constant pressure on the German first line defenses in order to affect the use by the Germans of the railway from Bazancourt to Challemagne and to wear down their reserves of men and ammunition.

"As regards the first object," says the report, "the pressure continued for thirty-one days with the result that the enemy had lost the fortified area which had been holding and continuing strengthening for five months. His use of the Challemagne and Bazancourt line has not been materially affected for although at certain points it is within range of the French guns, he can without difficulty continue to run the train required for the maintenance of the corps on that part of the front and the junction at Challemagne is secure.

"The using up of his reserves has been achieved in a very marked manner. At the beginning of the operation there were some eighteen regiments in that part of the line. At its conclusion thirty-three have been identified. Fifteen that had been called up to withstand the French offensive were drawn from many parts of the German line, which indicates that the enemy has no central reserves that he can call up in case of emergency.

Economy of Ammunition.
"As regards ammunition: 'The German artillery has practiced economy which is unusual with them. On many days they made no effort to keep down the fire of the French guns, although this meant heavier losses for their infantry in the trenches. This showed clearly that their supply of ammunition was not all they could have wished and an extra expenditure may well have made itself felt in the amount available on all parts of the German front.

"Two valuable lessons, therefore, have been learned from these operations. The first is that the German front can be pierced. There were moments both in Champagne and Neuve Chapelle when the way was open, when nothing more formidable than the weak resistance of sorely tried troops faced the attackers and which had been holding and continuing strengthening for five months. His use of the Challemagne and Bazancourt line has not been materially affected for although at certain points it is within range of the French guns, he can without difficulty continue to run the train required for the maintenance of the corps on that part of the front and the junction at Challemagne is secure.

Attack One Place Affects All.

"The second lesson learned is that a serious attack on one point has an effect on the enemy's plans and fighting power at every other point. The British attack at Neuve Chapelle ruined the enemy's chances of a big success at St. Eloi. The French attack at Perthes helped the British attack at Neuve Chapelle and both these assisted the Russians to withstand the German offensive in the eastern theatre."

Speaking of the inspection by Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief of several divisions which had been through the entire fighting, the observer says:
"You must not forget that these divisions had been brought up to strength sometimes almost reorganized after each of their attacks, of which they carried out several during the last thirty days. What we really are looking at is the French system of reinforcements and the system which keeps army corps not only up to their strength but up to their full standard of fighting efficiency. It is one which plainly is answering well."

"There is an idea in many circles that France has a number of army corps or divisions somewhere in the background ready to be thrown into the fighting when the great day of victory is at hand. This idea should be dismissed. All the army corps of France are fighting and her reserves will enable them to keep fighting and fighting hard so long as the war continues."

DETAILS OF ATTACK ON GERMAN CRUISER

ENGLAND SHOWS DISPOSITION TO MAKE REPARATION FOR BREACH NEUTRALITY.

COMMANDER BLEW UP HIS SHIP

Crew Held by Chilean Government for Overstaying Time Limit—Was to Be Interned.

Washington, April 2.—Details of the attack on the German cruiser Dresden in Chilean waters by a British squadron were officially received by the United States government today with information of the character of the representations recently made by Chile to the British government over the incident.

It was revealed for the first time here that the Dresden was about to be interned by the Chilean government for overstaying the limit of 24 hours granted to her when the British cruisers Glasgow and Kent and the auxiliary cruiser Orama opened fire. According to the official report of the Chilean government when the Dresden put into Cumberland Bay within 500 yards of shore and was forced to stay there for eight days in order to repair her engines, the maritime governor of Juan Fernandez Island did not agree but gave the vessel a certain time limit within which to depart. After the expiration of that time, he communicated to the Chilean government that with its approval he would immediately intern the vessel. In the meantime the British cruisers arrived and the maritime governor was about to go aboard the British cruiser Glasgow when he was obliged to turn back, he reported, on account of the broadside she sent toward the shore.

The report adds that the white flag was run up on the Dresden and word was sent to the British commander that the attack was being made in territorial waters. As that failed to stop the attack the German captain blew up his own ship. When the German captain and crew reached Valparaiso they were interned. The German government protested that they should be given their liberty since they were held to be in the same category as shipwrecked sailors but the Chilean foreign office replied that the Germans were being interned for violating neutrality in overstaying the time limit given them for repairs. It is understood that the British government already has shown its disposition to make reparation to Chile for the incident although what form the reparation will take is not known here.

SWOBODA MYSTERY TO THE POLICE OF PARIS

NEIGHBORS REGARDED HIM AS SUSPICIOUS AND HAD HIM WATCHED.

Now in Military Prison Charged With Burning French Ship La Touraine.

Paris, April 2.—Although the police investigation of the history of Raymond Swoboda, charged with being responsible for the fire aboard the steamer La Touraine, has brought out additional facts regarding him, he remains something of a mystery. Several of his friends profess to consider the charges against him entirely unfounded.

M. Trescat, a stock broker who knew Swoboda well, says he can see no possible motive for the act of which he is accused. After hostilities began and business was suspended on the Rhine, Trescat, according to Swoboda, sought some other occupation. One of the plans he considered was to go to the United States and obtain samples of military clothing, equipment and food which the ministry of war would be likely to purchase.

Trescat asserts Swoboda finally decided on this venture. He visited many factories in America, giving as a reference Broker Morrison, who is one of the most widely known general merchants in Paris. Upon the strength of this reference he obtained the samples he wanted, according to Trescat.

The police credit the statement of M. Trescat, for when they searched the office in the Avenue Le Opéra, where five trunks belonging to Swoboda were stored, they found that two of them had been opened and the contents displayed in an adjoining room. The display consisted of woollen gloves, socks, leather, metal flasks, canned goods, boots, trenching tools and even a complete French uniform.

Explains Photograph.
Friends of Swoboda explain the photograph in which he appears in the uniform of a German officer by stating that he spent two years at Heidelberg to perfect himself in German, and the picture probably was taken while he was wearing his student's uniform.

Plans found in Swoboda's office, which the police regarded as sus-

THE MIKADO REHEARSALS ASSUME MUCH INTEREST

Now that the scores are becoming more familiar, the twice a week rehearsals for the Mikado are assuming interest. The orchestra is also reaching a point of familiarity, while the soloists are all busy at work. A rehearsal takes place this evening in the Woman's Gymnasium, Baylor university.

Already the indication is for success when the Mikado is presented at the Auditorium on the night of May 5.

THE WORK AND THOUGHT SPEND PLEASANT HOUR

With Mrs. Casey hostess out on Alexander avenue, the members of the Work and Thought club enjoyed their session this week. Spring foliage was seen about the rooms, the harbinger of the season, while tiny baskets of eggs and chicks bespoke the coming of Easter.

The diversion while with their needles came the members of the "The Blind Spot." Each member having previously read the book, they enjoyed all the more the clear synopsis made by Mrs. Good. The out of club guests were Mrs. A. L. Lee of McGregor, and Woodcock also from out of the city.

THE SOUTH SIDE SEWERS WITH MRS. DAUGHTREY

Owing to the unfavorable weather the South Side Sewers found the case of Mahomet can not go to the mountain. The hostess, Mrs. Earl Daughtrey, thus came to her club and entertained in the Speight street home.

Her sister, Mrs. Shaw, club member, was the only special guest. The afternoon, during the accustomed sewing, the club discussed enlarging the plan of session by introducing other features. Some would like to discuss a recent book or current events. A more definite plan will evolve. The next meeting two weeks hence will be with Mrs. J. H. Williams.

GREAT HELP TO A SICK WOMAN

This Lady Says, "I Cannot Find Words to Express How I Thankful I Am to Cardui"

Jonesville, Va.—"I certainly appreciate what Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me," writes Mrs. Owen F. Wells, of this town. "Before I began to take Cardui, I could hardly go about. I had several womanly troubles, which caused me much suffering, and were very troublesome. But now I feel like a different person. I had often read of Cardui, but had little faith in it. My husband urged me to try it, and now I cannot find words to express how thankful I am. Cardui is a wonderful medicine and I feel that it was a greater help than anything I could have taken."

I had scarcely no pain or suffering at childbirth, and I feel I owe it all to Cardui. I know that no woman would make a mistake in using Cardui at that most critical time. It will save them so much suffering.

It is my sincere desire that this statement may be seen and read by all sufferers who suffer as I did. I am telling all my friends and acquaintances of the great cure I have received.

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, give Cardui a trial. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, to tell of the great benefit that Cardui has been to them. Why shouldn't it help you, too? Try Cardui.

THE NEEDLECRAFTERS MEET WITH MRS. SAYRE HOSTESS

Quite an enjoyable session of the Needlecrafters came with Mrs. Sayre of Austin avenue on Thursday.

The intimation of the pranks of the first of April was not wanting in the proceedings of the Needlecrafters.

The chill of the unusual day in spring was offset within by the fragrance of hyacinth and lilac, fresh from the garden.

The contest provoked a deal of fun in that it came in the guessing of comic musical selections. The tie was between the Mesdames Hagen and Connolly, with the latter winning the box of bonbons.

Like the box of Athens, opened to disclose emptiness. But soon the hostess made amends for the April Fool joke by offering a pretty little crocheted hair receiver.

The two course luncheon found an All Fool's course, followed by the really toothsome dainties.

Mrs. J. M. Henshaw was a guest, while Mrs. S. B. Moore was welcomed a new member. The next session of the Needlecrafters comes with Miss Nettie Austrey.

MESDAMES WALSH AND WYLIE FOR THE PENELOPES

The Mesdames Walsh and Wylie were joint hostesses for the Penelopes in their session on Thursday. Not only was the afternoon pleasantly spent, but it introduced the something unique.

In keeping with the day, the theme was, "April Fool." The hostesses displayed taste in room decoration, using pink and green. They offered their refreshments in three courses, and bestowed as individual favors "the ancient rose of Sharon" whose heart was a chocolate drop of April Fool.

The Penelopes are an industrious body, so fancy work vied with tongue in accomplishment. The roll call brought forward a current event or an anecdote of amusing personal experience. There had been provided a museum of "foolishness," all ancient relics. One of the world heroes was designated by a "bone apart," and others of like portraiture.

There was a scene Madame "Loo-lips," the seventh daughter of the loveliness, possessed of marvelous insight" who had just arrived from the Orient on the prow of a Zepplin. She told the present, past and future, according to her transformed name, "April Fool," using the Ouija board to do her bidding. In all, this was a delightful first of April program.

MISS ROWENA STURGIS TO BE APRIL BRIDE

It was quite the pleasant ripple to the society girls to attend an announcement luncheon; but more pleasant, when that luncheon announced the coming marriage of a young woman, so esteemed by society as is Miss Rowena Sturgis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Sturgis.

Suspicion was rife earlier in the season but this had been quieted for a few weeks until Mrs. Sturgis issued her luncheon invitations. This was for Thursday.

Eighteen girls were invited, and served six attractive courses in buffet form. The luncheon table was a beauty, the candles which stood sentinel on the table were duplicated for the buffet and mantel. The acute observer would have known the story upon entrance into the luncheon room for the "sweetheart" had been given prominent place. Those who did observe remained discreetly quiet, for no suggestion was given that Cupid had a message until his cards were found in the individual nut baskets.

These cards read: "Rowena Sturgis—Mr. J. J. Abernathy, April Twenty-first." The secret out, it was found that two of the girl guests and the bride were to be invited to join this bridal party. While Mr. Abernathy is not at present a resident of this city, it is his business ability which has taken him to New Orleans, a higher field. His business connection is with the Santa Fe road, and his social connection while a Wacoan was prominent. His short time here leads to the event for which he and his popular young bride-to-be are now congratulated. Miss Sturgis was born in this city, reared in the west and educated in Virginia, so hers is a broad acquaintance and many friends who will note the happiness which reached her field. The wedding will take place in the First Presbyterian church where her family is prominent and active. The details are yet to be come final. Those invited and thus come final. Those invited and thus come final. Those invited and thus come final.

SUPPLYING CITY EXPERTS.

In the hope of supplying cities of the state with business managers, city engineers, health officers and financial experts, and bringing the right men to fill those positions into communication with the places that are to be filled, the University of Texas' Bureau of Municipal Research has established an index of all qualified experts who are known to be available for such work and are desirous of positions.

This list will be furnished all cities desiring to employ a city manager or a man in any of the other capacities mentioned, though emphasis has been placed at the outset upon the position of city manager in view of the fact that so many of the cities of the state are taking up the consideration of that form of government. No charge is made the cities for the information furnished them, nor do the applicants for the positions have to pay any kind of a registration fee.

Such a plan is an interesting one, but as Prof. H. G. James, director of the department, announces, it presumes that men will be chosen regardless of political considerations and that the question of character and fitness for the position will be the only elements entering into the choice of a manager. And this is the crux of the whole city manager plan. If a city manager is to be chosen from political considerations and is placed under political obligation to the men who put him there, then it is dangerous to have a city manager at all. The position of city manager should have none of the smack of political spoils about it. The sole justification for the new position lies in the prospect of securing a competent administrator of the city's affairs because of a superior knowledge of the values of things and how the city's work should be transacted. If a candidate for city manager does not have these qualifications then he should not be considered for the place.

We have contended all along, and we believe wisely, that a city manager should be chosen by non-salaried commissioners or aldermen. The self-seeking politicians and the spoils hunters do not, as a rule, aspire to non-salaried positions. Experience in city affairs in America has demonstrated that it is frequently very difficult to get men of large business affairs—and these are generally men of large business ability—to accept public positions because the time and worry and general inconvenience entailed are entirely out of proportion to the remuneration allowed. But this same experience has demonstrated that business men are willing to accept non-salaried offices where they are charged only with mapping out general policies and can employ expert men to do the necessary work in carrying out those policies.

Some prejudice against the city manager plan will likely be engendered because many of the cities will find it necessary to employ outside men for that position. This will be made necessary because the profession of city manager is one that has not been pursued very generally in this state heretofore. But there is the suggestion that it might be advisable for the other reason that an outside man would be free from local factionalism, could come into his duties without any attachments that might embarrass or hinder his work and thus render a more efficient service than a home man.

It is not contemplated by the University bureau that it will furnish college professors to run the cities, although there are doubtless a few professors who would make good city managers. The aim of the University is to render the cities a service by putting them in touch with desirable public servants.

We were not particularly pleased with Miss April at the first introduction, but we hope our closer acquaintance with her will induce us to revise our opinion.

For an Easter suggestion that all can adopt, whether you have visited the milliner or the toggery shop or not: Go to church to-morrow.

A SENSIBLE VETO.

While entertaining a due regard for the liberty of the press, Governor Ferguson would have been fully justified in his veto of House Bill No. 196, which seeks to unduly regulate political advertising, solely from a consideration of common sense. The bill sought to require newspapers and publishers of political circulars and advertisements to carry a statement at the end of such advertisement of the name of the committee or individual ordering such advertisement or circular, the date on which it was ordered, and the amount that was agreed upon as compensation for such publication.

If a paper accepts a political advertisement that tends to reflect upon the character or reputation of candidates or other persons involved in a campaign it subjects itself liable to a suit for libel and the aggrieved individual has redress in the courts. Papers, as a rule, are careful to avoid such risks, and if the campaign documents or other political advertisements are not libelous they constitute legitimate advertising and there is no occasion for the state stepping in and throwing needless handicaps around their publication. If the opposition wants to counteract what the original article sets forth, the columns of the paper are open to the opposition for a rejoinder at the customary rates, unless, perhaps, the publication is a personal organ instead of a newspaper, and in that event the people are aware of it and advertisements appearing therein carry very little weight.

It is perfectly proper for the state to prevent real abuses, but there is no occasion for the state concerning itself with only imaginary abuses, especially where to do so would be to curtail the freedom of the press, the greatest protector of the rights of the people which our government knows. There have been members of legislatures who were afraid to have their acts subjected to the limelight of an unbiased publicity and for that reason they would like to cripple the efficiency and usefulness of the press as largely as possible. We do not think this bill was an effort in that direction, but it was striking at an imaginary rather than a real evil and we are glad Mr. Ferguson gave it the death it deserved.

The governor is to be commended, too, for his approval of the house joint resolution which submits to a vote of the people the constitutional amendment which seeks to empower the counties of the state to levy and collect an ad valorem county tax not to exceed 50 cents on the $100 valuation for the maintenance of the public schools of the county, and authorizing the levy and collection of a district ad valorem tax not to exceed $1 on the $100 valuation for the maintenance of the public schools of the district.

With the general educational awakening that has come in this state, as evidenced by the demand for compulsory school attendance, the attendance upon the schools will be greatly enhanced within the next few years and larger demands than ever before will be made upon the schools in every way. To meet these demands will require more money than is now available and an increase in the tax rate affords the only practicable means for raising that money. Under the district system, only those communities in which a majority of the citizens take a pride in the efficiency of their schools, will be called upon to pay such a tax when it is levied and persons who are really interested in better schools know that money put into them is well invested.

General approbation will be given to the governor's desire and order for economy in the purchase of food supplies for the various state institutions, though there is a possibility for this scheme of economy to be carried to an extreme. As Mr. Leavy, the new state purchasing agent, points out, there is no occasion for the children of the deaf, dumb and blind institute for negroes being fed on the highest-priced flour, bacon and hams, and on what Mr. Leavy terms "such delicacies" as sliced pineapple, Del Monte peaches, cherries, apples, coconuts, cheese, deviled ham, sardines, salmon, crackers and shredded wheat biscuits.

But there is a danger that the other extreme may be reached in the enthusiasm of the new purchasing agent to make an economical showing. Persons of long experience in providing food for large numbers of persons declare that a simple bread and meat diet is the most expensive possible, almost, outside of real luxuries. The use of fruits and vegetables, fresh and canned, not only proves a relief to the palate, but to the stomach as well, but is cheaper and more healthful than a never-changing diet which excludes them. Sliced pineapples, Del Monte peaches, cherries, sardines and deviled ham are generally regarded as luxuries, for they usually command a high price; but fresh apples, in season, and dried fruits the year round, salmon and cheese and crackers, when purchased in quantities sufficient to supply a large institution of this character, can be had cheaply enough to lift them out of the class of luxuries entirely. It is true that the wards of the state are entitled to no better support than the average taxpayer is capable of providing for himself, but it is also true that these wards should not be imposed upon and discriminated against in their maintenance and support simply because they are wards, and therefore, defenseless. And the negro wards are entitled to as good food as the white wards.

In this connection the news dispatches from Austin indicate that the governor is considering recommending to the special session of the legislature the matter of selling the present inadequate and dangerous quarters in which the state institute for the blind is located, purchasing a new location and providing modern fireproof buildings for the school elsewhere in the city of Austin. Such a measure passed the senate during the regular session, but failed in the house and we hope the governor will find his way clear to call it to the attention of the lawmakers again, for it is one of the most deserving of the platform demands that remain unacted into law.

NEUTRALITY IN MEXICAN CAPITAL.

If General Carranza is the patriot he would have us believe, we shall expect him to meet the action of the Villa-Zapata forces and the request of the United States and join in the agreement that the Mexican capital shall be reserved as neutral territory until the contending factions shall have settled their differences and the real authority to occupy the capital has been finally determined.

Such a course will not only simplify the task that remains in determining the final winner of the inter-neine struggle, but will pave the way for winning the good will of the foreign powers and enable whichever side that wins in Mexico to command more respect and co-operation abroad than would be possible in case of a victory for any side under the continuation of present conditions.

Many of the powerful nations of the world have numerous citizens in Mexico yet, and the majority of them have flown to the capital city for protection. The conduct of the Carranza forces while in charge of the capital recently was of such character that had it been prolonged much further, intervention of some character from some foreign source would have been practically inevitable. But preserving the neutrality of Mexico City would guarantee safety to all foreigners lodged there and would make possible a sufficient food supply, while the further request for the neutrality of the railway connections between Mexico City and Vera Cruz, making it possible for foreigners to leave the country in safety at any time they desired, would relieve the bulk of the anxiety which foreign governments have been feeling over the Mexican situation, and the Mexican factions would thus feel freer to go ahead with their scrapping and end the struggle as soon as they can.

Intermittent occupation of the capital by the contending forces, bringing charge and counter charge of the looting of the national treasury, and other proceedings of that character can be of no permanent advantage to any of the factions that are seeking control of the strife-ridden republic. A decision on the part of all forces concerned that the capital city shall remain neutral until the end of the conflict would indicate that the Mexicans are amenable to reason and would prove to their advantage at home and abroad in every way.

COTTON AND THE WAR.

To fix a relationship between the tremendous effort of the allied fleet to batter down the defenses of the Dardanelles and tendencies in the cotton market would seem to be fanciful. Yet it is the explanation which the New York cotton men offer for the recent rise in the price of the staple, according to the New Orleans Daily States.

Of course everybody understands that if the straits are pierced the war will be shortened and the resumption of normal commerce hastened. That, however, is not the basis of the explanation. What these New York men mean to point out is that the greater the expenditure of ammunition the greater must be the demand for cotton with which to produce it. There has been an enormous increase in the use of cotton in preparing explosives since the war began.

Richard Spillane in "Commerce and Finance" points out that a powder man has estimated that 1,200,000 bales of cotton a year will be used by the world for the making of ammunition alone at the present rate of powder manufacture. That is approximately an eighth of the total American crop. The United States uses normally 30,000 bales a year for the manufacture of powder. But the Queen Elizabeth with all her guns going will shoot the staple away, theoretically speaking, at the rate of about a dozen bales a minute, and Mr. Spillane makes his comparison striking when he says that the fleet at Smyrna probably already has shot away enough cotton to clothe a whole Turkish army corps.

So while the blockade of German ports cuts against the consumption of cotton in one direction, the increasing use of ammunition by the allies cuts in favor of it in another.

There is an illustration of this at home. Whereas the United States in peace uses 30,000 bales a year for the manufacture of powder, the Du Pont plants alone are contracting for it at the rate of 200,000 to 240,000 bales a year, and new plants, tempted by the high prices the allies are offering for ammunition, are springing up in many directions. According to the New York Sun, one of these already has contracted with a New York house for 30,000 bales a year to meet its demands.

The war has its educational advantages. It broadens the popular grasp of geography. These facts concerning the uses to which cotton is being put show also how much it tends to increase the knowledge of the masses in respect to things apparently unrelated to the business of killing human beings.

Ten thousand men in Chicago Heights, a suburb of the Windy City, received a very acceptable April fool message Thursday in the form of orders to return to work in the steel mills and factories after they had been idle since January 1.

The world would rock along just as well if a miniature shake should occur in the Havana ring next Monday and cause Mother Earth to envelop both participants in the fight.

MINNESOTA EXPERT TELLS WHY SHOULD NOT INCREASE RATES

Chicago, April 2.—Delbert F. Jurgensen, chief engineer of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, gave at the interstate commerce commission hearing of the western freight rate case today his opinion concerning a basis for the reasonableness of rates. He appeared in opposition to the forty-one western railroads' plea that they be permitted to increase rates on certain commodities, which, the railroads say, are necessary to yield them a fair income on their investments.

Mr. Jurgensen quoted the appraisals of the roads involved in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, South Dakota and part of Michigan, and said the capitalization exceeded the present and book value of the properties. He contended that therefore the reasons for increase of rates should not be computed upon a basis of the outstanding stocks and bonds.

"The outstanding capital stock and bonded debt of the roads involved in these states averages $56,198,000, a mile of main roadway, and average a mile of all tracks of $39,932," said Mr. Jurgensen. "Contrasted to this the book cost, as shown by the reports of the railroads, is $51,398 a mile of main roadway, or $39,575 a mile for all trackage. The book cost is $139,093,000 less than the outstanding capital stock and funded debt. The actual depreciated book cost is $455,333,000 less than the outstanding stock and funded debt."

Concerning the various methods adopted by the railroads in charging depreciation, Mr. Jurgensen said the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy charged for depreciation of locomotives 7.37 to 7.96 per cent, whereas, it should charge only 3.16 per cent, and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific charged 0.16 to 0.22, whereas, it should charge 3.02 per cent.

"What is the effect of making a wrong calculation as to depreciation?" asked H. A. Edgerton, assistant attorney general of Minnesota.

"The Burlington," answered the witness, "would charge a greater sum to operating expenses and thereby its net earnings, but the Rock Island would charge less to operating expenses and thereby increase its net earnings." Mr. Jurgensen said the railroads charged too much to general expenditures averaging 9 to 15 per cent, whereas, the general average in the state, he cited, was 2.95 per cent.

C. C. Wright, counsel for the railroads, asked the witness to show that single track largely had been considered and in states where double tracks were used no calculations had been made. In the South Dakota figures, the witness said, no allowance had been made in the valuation of the Chicago and Northwestern for a new station in Chicago, although the station building alone, applied to the entire railway, would add about $2,000 a mile to the cost of the road.

Daniels Will Elect Class in Aeronautics

Washington, April 2.—Secretary Daniels is about to elect a new class of ten naval and marine corps officers and twenty enlisted men to be organized in June for instruction in naval aeronautics at the naval station at Pensacola, Fla. The officers will spend the first six weeks at the plant of some aeroplane manufacturer, after which instruction in flying will begin at the Pensacola station.

When the officers and men begin work requiring actual flying they will receive 35 and 50 per cent, respectively, increase of pay.

There are already four aeroplanes at Pensacola; two have been ordered and three more will be bought soon. Eight student aviators of the class of officers formed last year are now at the station and one of them, Ensign C. K. Bronson, already has qualified for his pilot certificate.

Mr. Daniels already has before him a large number of applications from both officers and enlisted men desirous of being included in the new class.

Temple Postoffice Now Is in First Class

Temple, April 2.—Commencing June 1 next the Temple postoffice will be rated in the list of first class postoffices of the county by reason of the receipts for the last fiscal year having exceeded the $40,000 mark. Only the largest cities in Texas are listed as first class postoffices. Every year for seventeen consecutive years the receipts of the local office have shown a substantial increase having gone from $11,000 to $40,000 in that length of time, nearly quadrupling themselves.

Millionaire Hyde Released From Prison

Atlanta, Ga., April 2.—Frederick A. Hyde, millionaire clubman and business leader of Oakland, Cal., has been released from the federal penitentiary here after serving sixteen months in connection with land frauds and will leave for his home tomorrow. Officials announced today Hyde had left the prison late yesterday.

President Wilson recently remitted fines and costs assessed against Hyde, the total of which never had been definitely determined and which had resulted in his remaining in his prison four months after his sentence had expired. Hyde originally was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, but this was commuted to a year and a day before he began his term.

In announcing his intention to leave tomorrow for California, Hyde said: "I had a bully time in prison. It was the most worth-while sixteen months of my life."

In 1904 President Roosevelt ordered an investigation of alleged land frauds which resulted in the indictment of Hyde and several others on charges of conspiring to defraud the government out of thousands of acres on the Pacific coast. Hyde was tried and convicted in 1908. The case was taken before the United States supreme court three times when Hyde gave money liberally to assist in providing sports and recreation for the prisoners.

Youthful Anarchist Sticks to His Story

New York, April 2.—Cross-examination of Carmine Carbone at his trial with Frank Abarno on the charge of attempting to explode bombs in St. Patrick's cathedral failed today to shake the story that his participation in the alleged plot had been instigated by Police Detective Amadeo Polignani, for the purpose of "framing him up."

The witness accused the police of beating him in order to make him confess. Abarno also took the stand in his own defense and told a similar story. Polignani had taken him along Fifth avenue, he said, pointed out the homes of John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie and other wealthy men and urged violence against them as well as a raid upon jewelry stores and banks.

The mother and sister of Abarno testified that Polignani was a frequent visitor at their home and exerted an evil influence upon him. The mother said that for this reason she had warned Polignani to cease his visits.

My brother was a good boy until he met Polignani," testified the sister. Abarno described the making of the bombs and the trip to the cathedral. He said that at Polignani's bidding he helped the detective mix the ingredients of the bombs and wind the copper wire around them. Abarno said he and Polignani provided themselves with bombs which they placed under their coats and pointed out the church, where they were to explode them. He stopped at a cigar store at the suggestion of Polignani, who bought two cigars and gave one to him. Abarno said he lit his cigar from the one already lighted by the detective. He said that he rebelled against going in, but Polignani threatened him and then they walked in.

"Inside I saw hundreds of men and women kneeling in prayer," Abarno continued. "I sickened at the thought of sacrificing human lives. I tried to turn and leave the church, but Polignani pushed me up the aisle. With the bomb still tightly clutched in my pocket, I turned and began to walk out. Just then a detective grabbed me and tore the bomb from me and then two others grabbed me and I was chained to Polignani."

In answer to a question, Abarno said he did not light the bomb with his cigar. The cigar was out when he entered the church, he insisted. Abarno asserted that one of the detectives lit the fuse with a match after he had taken the bomb from him. Adjournment was taken until Monday.

Miss Laura Edwards to Be Recommended as District Nurse

Miss Laura Edwards will be the first visiting nurse of Waco if the ordinance creating the position is passed over the mayor's veto at the commission meeting next Monday morning. The advisory board named in the ordinance, which was vetoed by the mayor last Wednesday, announced yesterday that it would present Miss Edwards' name to the commission after final action has been taken on the mayor's veto. It is expected that the commissioners will vote to override the veto, as the original vote was unanimously in favor of the passage of the ordinance.

Miss Edwards is a graduate trained nurse, receiving her training in Dallas, and has had experience of the kind valuable in her work here when she was connected with the Henry Street Settlement in New York, one of the largest in the country and the pioneer in New York. Miss Edwards' work and experience have been such as to give her grasp of the general health conditions of a city and knowledge and insight necessary to bring about better conditions, according to members of the advisory board.

The ordinance creating the position of visiting nurse and providing an advisory board to act with the commission in handling the detail of her work was passed by the commission, March 22, after long delay and debate on the matter, and after committee from the McLennan County Medical association and women's clubs of the city had appeared before the commission at several previous meetings. Mayor Higgins announced he would veto the ordinance. The veto was returned Wednesday, and will be acted on finally by the commission Monday, being the first regular meeting since it has been filed.

HIGH SCHOOL CLUB CAPT. W. L. HARRIS HAS ANNUAL BANQUET FOUND DEAD IN TENT

PROF. C. O. CALLOWAY MAKES PRINCIPAL TALK ON MEANING OF SUCCESS.

DR. BROOKS UNABLE TO ATTEND

Good Reports Received From Secretary and Treasurer—Meal Served at Y. M. C. A.

At 7 o'clock last evening the second anniversary banquet of the High School club was held in the boys' room of the Y. M. C. A. Hon. Pat M. Neff presided as toastmaster, and by his witty stories and eloquent flights of oratory, added greatly to the excellent program which had been arranged.

Vernon Barnes Hill, secretary of the club, was called upon for his annual report. Mr. Hill stated that the club has enjoyed an average attendance of forty-eight members for each meeting since December 11, 1914. The club has had the privilege of hearing some of the state's brainiest men, who have talked on subjects pertaining to a boy's future welfare and who have striven to assist him to choose his life work.

The club treasurer, Homer Wilson, read the report of the financial condition of the club. "He said that the ledger showed a balance on the right side, and that all indebtedness has been canceled.

"The Meaning of Success" was the subject of the address by Prof. C. O. Calloway of the high school. Some people think that success means to realize one's purpose or to acquire things regarded as most valuable in worldly goods, but real success means to accomplish the greatest possible thing in the sphere in which one is placed, said the speaker. The only man who succeeds is the one who sets his mark high and concentrates all his powers to attain it. He must have a definite purpose and strive to turn his energies in this direction. Many obscure men are great successes, because success is measured by the amount of genuine service rendered to a community, he said.

Mr. Calloway gave three fundamental principles which enable a man to gain success. First, he must form an early appreciation of the difficulties by which success is obtained. Second, he should not have ideals so far beyond even remote possibility that they can never be executed and third, he should never make the gigantic mistake of looking out of his life. Many people scoff at the idea of true religion, and say that the world has outgrown its spiritual nature, but today, he declared, more real, idealistic religion is manifest in the world than ever before.

Dan Kelly, president of the club, spoke on "Prospects for Next Year." He said that the club is based on those sound principles which insure success for every organization, and that the strength of unity and purpose which prevail among the members of the club makes it possible for it to attain a high degree of efficiency. Dr. S. P. Brooks of Baylor was on the program for an address, but owing to the serious illness of his wife was unable to attend.

Rev. E. E. Ingram, Prof. T. S. Montgomery and E. T. Genheimer made short talks on the success which the club has attained this year, and expressed their hearty indorsement of the work which the club has done.

The sumptuous banquet was prepared under the direction of Miss Hyllton, and the high school domestic science class. The following girls served the supper: Misses Clara Louise Bruch, Flora Edmund, Mildred Hall, Leah Friedman, Kelly Romans, Daisy Brown, Sadie Hawtiff, Iva Hopkins, Maude Sharpe.

Photographer Gildersleeve took a flashlight picture of the assemblage.

AGED CONFEDERATE VETERAN PASSES AWAY INDEPENDENT AS HE HAD LIVED.

ORGANIZED TEXAS COMPANY

Efforts Are Being Made to Locate Brother in Fort Worth—Funeral to Be Held Sunday.

Independent to the last, Captain W. L. Harris, organizer and commander of Company A, Fifteenth Texas Infantry, was found dead in his bed in the tent which he made his home near White City on the Robinson road. He was 78 years old and had resided in Waco for thirty years. His wife is buried in Oakwood, and, if possible, his comrades of Pat Cleburne camp, United Confederate Veterans, will secure the adjoining space for his grave.

Captain Harris was in North Texas at the outbreak of the Civil war and organized the company which he commanded during that struggle in and around Sherman. His regiment fought under General Pat Cleburne, in whose honor the local camp of Confederate Veterans was named.

At the end of the war Captain Harris lived in Denison for a number of years, moving from there to Waco. All he had was his pension, and friends urged him to go to either the Masonic home at Arlington or to the Confederate home at Austin. This he steadfastly refused to do, seeking out a livelihood by raising chickens and a small garden.

He was in Waco early in the week and visited Justice J. J. Padgett in his office at the court house, saying that he was feeling fine. Yesterday morning Justice Padgett was called to hold the inquest over his old comrade. The body was reclining stiff and straight on the bed, with hands folded over his breast. The death is ascribed to heart failure and old age.

Mrs. Helen Campbell, a neighbor, was the one that discovered that Captain Harris was dead. He stopped at her home Thursday noon and called to hold the inquest over his old comrade. The body was reclining stiff and straight on the bed, with hands folded over his breast. The death is ascribed to heart failure and old age.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food- tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

White Cafe Opens for Business Today

For the man or woman who wants quick service of his meals, who also wants cleanliness and quiet, with the confidence and satisfaction that comes from knowing that behind the wall where the food comes from is a kitchen that is as clean as the front, the White Cafe, which opens this morning at 11 o'clock at 503 Austin avenue, will be an attractive place. Months have been consumed in remodeling the building into one of the most sanitary and up-to-date restaurants in the south. A quiet, elegant dining room has been constructed, surrounded by mirrors and enameled walls, in which cleanliness and perfect service will delight the diner.

Enameled tile covers the floor, the walls are white enameled, everything is white with the exception of absolute cleanliness. Inside the counter, instead of the usual open bins where bread and other foods lie beside scrubbing cloths and scraps, are metallic bins, each closed with a dust-proof sliding door. Mahogany and nickel are the outside of milk chest and ice boxes, and new silver and napery absolutely sparkle with cleanliness. The proprietors announce that chairs with backs will replace the stools about the counter in a few days. The backs to the chairs will not be so high as to interfere with diners, but will be high enough to furnish a restful seat while eating. An above furnishes space for several small tables, and two more tables are set near the front.

The kitchen and bakery of the White cafe will be the joy of the pure food inspector. Only natural gas is used as a fuel, and a perfect system of vent pipes remove all fumes from the building. All utensils used in cooking are of heavy aluminum. A rack for hanging up cooking vessels is provided overhead, instead of the usual indiscriminate throwing on the floor and pans. An electric dishwashing machine cleans and sterilizes all dishes used.

Especially care is taken with meats. The ice boxes in which they are stored before cooking are of the most improved and sanitary type, being constructed with double walls. Between the two walls is space for the ice, which never comes into contact with the meat.

A complete baker shop is provided in the rear. Natural gas is used in the oven, which is one of the most modern in the United States. All bread and pastry served by the cafe will be baked in this shop.

An expert chef will have direction of the kitchen according to the announcement of Messrs. Gavatos and Ermellos, the proprietors, who also announce that the service will be absolutely quiet. Waiters will not be allowed to shout their orders from the front, but must go back into the kitchen.

Ice boxes and pantries were filled with provisions last night, and the cooks and bakers were busy in preparation for the opening this morning at 11 o'clock. The cafe is centrally located, one of the most perfect eating establishments in the country, and will no doubt receive a large patronage.

Commissioners Have Right to Employ a Matron, Says Lawyer

Dallas, April 2.—That the county commissioners' court has ample authority for employing a matron was the expression of County Attorney Mike T. Lively this morning when, for the past several days, has been studying the statute in that regard. The law authorizes the sheriff, Mr. Lively said, to employ guards for all prisoners. The orders passed by the county commissioners was that the matron be employed as a guard for the female inmates of the county jail.

Take Depositions in 11 Saloon Cases at Brownsville, Tex.

Austin, Tex., April 2.—Eleven liquor licenses of saloon men at Brownsville are involved in the investigation which is now being conducted by Comptroller N. B. Terrell and Chief Liquor Permit Clerk Humphreys. Comptroller Terrell returned today from Brownsville where he gave the saloon men an open hearing on the question of the alleged violation of the liquor laws. He said that Mr. Humphreys is completing the work of taking depositions and as soon as the testimony reaches here he will decide whether or not the licenses shall be forfeited.

Inquire as to Saloons Closing.

Austin, April 2.—Comptroller Terrell today received many telegrams from over the state from persons wanting to know if the saloons must close tomorrow on account of the county school trustee election. He said he has not as yet ruled on the subject and is investigating the law. He is inclined to the view that the saloons may have to close. "Every saloon which keeps open tomorrow is violating the laws of this state," said Attorney General Looney today. He pointed out that it is not a question as to whether or not an election is held in a county, but the question is that the law provides that saloons must close on election days and tomorrow is held to be an election day.

Modify Cattle Quarantine.

Austin, April 2.—After a conference today with J. H. Avery, chairman of the livestock sanitary commission, the governor said there would be a modification made in the present worldwide foot and mouth disease quarantine. The governor declared that he had not completed his conference with Mr. Avery and could not say at this time just to what extent the embargo would be lifted.

Approves Warehouse Receipts.

Austin, April 2.—Governor Ferguson today approved the house bill which provides for the issuance of negotiable cotton warehouse receipts under the direction of the department of insurance and banking. This bill is designed to facilitate the disposition of these receipts by the holders thereof. The blanks are to be provided for by the commissioner of insurance and banking. This bill becomes effective ninety days after adjournment of the legislature.

The commission also instructed the city attorney to bring in an ordinance regulating telephone service, which will embody the ideas agreed upon by the commissioners and representatives of the telephone company at the meeting Wednesday morning and yesterday morning.

Mayor Higgins was present at the meeting of the commission yesterday morning for a short time. The mayor arrived in Waco from Dallas at 10 o'clock, going directly to the commission chamber. He remained only a short time, being excused to eat breakfast and sign pay checks for the city payroll. The mayor stated that he spent considerable time in Dallas investigating the sewage disposal plant of that city. A new state law prohibiting the emptying sewage into a running stream and which goes into effect in 1916 will force Waco to build a plant for the disposal of the sewage of the city. When the dam at lock and dam No. 8, eleven miles south of Waco, is closed, the federal government will prohibit emptying of sewage into the river. The building of the sewage disposal plant is a serious problem for the city, on account of the fact that the limit for which bonds may be issued has been almost reached and no money is available for the purpose.

W. S. Rathell, manager in Waco for the Texas Power and Light company, was present on invitation by the commission, to explain the character and progress of work being done in East Waco for the gas mains. Mr. Rathell stated that 4,400 feet of 12-inch, 1,000 feet of 10-inch, 500 feet of 8-inch, and 1,363 feet of 4-inch high pressure pipe had been laid in East Waco. Low pressure lines have been laid on the following streets:

Starting from the regulating station at the intersection of the Texas Central track and Bridge street, out Bridge to Archer, on Archer from Bridge to Tyler, on Tyler from Archer to Turner, on Turner from Tyler to Elm, on Elm from Turner to Peach; also on Turner from Tyler to the city limits on Preston from Tyler to the Texas Central, on Sherman from Tyler to the Texas Central, on Dallas from Tyler to within a block of the city limits.

The commission accepted Mr. Rathell's statement as satisfactory and agreed that the amount of work done by the company to date in East Waco complied with the agreement made with the city some time ago.

Mr. Rathell stated that when the company is asked by consumers to inspect piping and connections for gas that have been put in by other plumbers that the company, a charge of $1 is made. He said that insurance companies direct that natural gas connections must be made in accordance with certain specifications, and that many consumers wished the company's inspector to certify to this inspection. Mr. Rathell stated that it is not mandatory on the consumer, said Mr. Rathell, and is made only upon request.

City Attorney John Maxwell presented objections to the form of the release that is required of customers by the company when prepay meters are used with natural gas. Mr. Maxwell said that the release as worded frees the company from all liability for accident, no matter where the fault might lie. Mr. Rathell stated last night that he had agreed with Mr. Maxwell to meet his objections to the form of the release by eliminating any provisions but that the company had not sought to escape liability for any damage caused by fault of its agents or equipment. Mr. Rathell said that the city attorney would be asked to draw up a form of release for use by the company when customers demand prepay meters.

J. B. Earle, president of the Texas Telephone company; E. C. Blomeyer and B. C. Moulton, representing the same company, were in a conference with the commissioners concerning the ordinance which will be passed to regulate telephone service in the city. Features of the regulation which will be covered by the ordinance ordered brought in by the city attorney are: the company must extend its lines anywhere in the city within a reasonable time after a subscriber has ordered a telephone to be placed in his house; where isolated construction is necessary to reach an individual customer the company may require three months' telephone rent to be paid in advance; 24 hours is enough time for the trouble company to make repairs of local or individual trouble; three telephone directories shall be issued each year instead of two, as at present; names of firm members shall be printed in the directories following the firm name when requested, and the added cost of printing; telephone numbers shall be changed only when unavoidable and with the consent of the subscriber concerned; a board of arbitration shall be created to decide between the holders of the same number on the two systems now operated here when it becomes necessary to change one of the numbers on account of the consolidation of the two systems.

Turkey Requests U. S. to Protect Citizens and Ask for Redress

Washington, April 2.—Following close on the heels of the American government's request to Turkey to protect the Americans at the mission school at Urumiah, Persia, Hussein Bey, charge of the Turkish embassy here, today presented to the state department a note of protest against the killing in Mexico of two Turkish subjects.

Two Syrians, Salomon Nigri and Rafael Perez, are said to have been executed at Urumiah by Villa soldiers, the charge against them being that they had attempted to circulate counterfeit currency notes. It was claimed in defense of the men that the notes had been approved as genuine by the Villa commander.

In his note to the department filed on instructions from his government, the Turkish charge requested the United States to protect Turkish subjects in Mexico and to ask for redress in the present case. No reply was made today to the Turkish request, although it was understood that it would be complied with.

West Virginia Sees Way Out of Present Fund Embarrassment

Charleston, W. Va., April 2.—A way out of the difficulties which have beset the financial officials of West Virginia since the declaration of a state moratorium, March 17, is pointed out by an opinion handed down late today by A. A. Lilly, state attorney general. The opinion says the auditor of the state is authorized to draw money to pay the expenses of running the state government from the money in the state fund provided by blank appropriations, provided enough of this special fund is kept on hand at all times to meet the demands upon it. By Attorney General Lilly's ruling there is no further need of holding up the salaries of state officials and employees, including Governor Hatfield. The unusual situation was brought about by the refusal of the legislature at its regular session and at an extraordinary session to pass necessary revenue measures.

Exclusive Suburb Entertains Leper

Chicago, April 2.—Highland Park, an exclusive suburb of Chicago, must entertain Angelo Lunardi, a leper, until war conditions in Europe permit his safe return to Italy on the same vessel which brought him to this country. This decision of the immigration authorities in Washington was received here today by Dr. Percy L. Prentiss, head of the local immigration bureau. The deportation order was brought out as usual, but a note of Dr. Prentiss explained that as the North German-Lloyd steamers are not clearing from United States ports at present and no other line can be compelled to carry the leper, Lunardi will have to remain on American soil for some time to come.

Lunardi was employed as a watchman at the Exmoor Country club when physicians discovered he was afflicted with leprosy.

Cause High Price of Wheat Is the Heavy Demand in Europe

Washington, April 2.—Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney at Chicago, who has been investigating the cause of increases in the price of wheat, was in conference here today with Attorney General Gregory and G. C. Todd, the assistant in charge of anti-trust prosecutions.

It was said tonight the investigation has not been concluded. So far no evidence has been discovered to indicate the existence of any combination or corner which has arbitrarily forced up the price.

Results of the inquiry to date have tended to strengthen the belief of the attorney general that the great factor in the rise was the unusual demand for wheat abroad and the speculation to be expected as a consequence.

Mr. Clyne discussed with the attorney general the anti-trust suit against the Associated Bidders, the so-called "trust," which comes up for trial in Chicago May 26. He has been in New York taking testimony in the case and reported that the evidence produced there shows that there are about 3,600 towns and cities in the United States where the "trust" is in control.

California's Alien Laws Affect British Women Teachers

Washington, April 2.—California's alien employment legislation and its effect upon English women school teachers in the state was the subject of a conference at the state department today between Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Springs-Rice, the British ambassador.

Only four women teachers so far have been affected by the new law and the California state authorities will by either legislation or construction of the present law exempt from its operation these women and others who were already employed before the enactment of the law.

The California authorities, it was explained, hold that they have only followed the example of the Canadian government in this sort of legislation and that the British embassy is trying to ascertain the effect of the Canadian regulations before pursuing the subject further.

Mystery Prisoner Released at Ft. Worth

Fort Worth, April 2.—E. S. Carroll, held on a technical charge of vagrancy, but suspected of having kidnapped a beautiful child with him, was released on a writ of habeas corpus this afternoon. The child said Carroll was not his father, that he had been stolen but the father explained those statements as delusions produced in the child's mind by moving pictures.

An effort will be made to have the boy declared dependent, it having been definitely ascertained he is not the Striker child.

Temple Bonds Signed. Temple, April 2.—The bonded indebtedness of the city of Temple was increased today by $40,000, when city officials attached their signatures to an issue voted some time ago by the people for the purpose of erecting several new brick grammar school buildings. The bonds are in denominations of $1,000, bearing five per cent interest and payable in twenty and forty years. They were purchased by N. W. Halsey & Co., of Chicago, at par, accrued interest and a small premium.

U. S. Won't Demand Apology Desecration of Flag in Mexico

Washington, April 2.—Inasmuch as the desecration of the American flag flying above the home of John B. McManus, an American citizen murdered in Mexico City was the act of lawless persons acting without authority, the United States government decided today to make no demand for apology.

Secretary Bryan announced that the incident was closed with the receipt today of a dispatch from the Brazilian minister in Mexico City.

"The Brazilian minister," Mr. Bryan said, "did not think the facts in the case showed any attempt on the part of any officers or authorities to desecrate the flag and he did not therefore regard it as a case where an apology should be asked."

The petition re-states the claim of the defense that Horn, as an officer of the German army and a belligerent is not answerable to the courts but to the department of state, for any acts performed in a neutral country against a nation with which his own country is at war. It alleges that Horn's removal to this state from Maine was in violation of constitutional and treaty rights because of the refusal of the federal commissioners at Bangor to receive evidence which it is alleged would have established the innocence of the prisoner; and because of Judges Putnam and Hale of the United States court in Portland are declared to have declined to consider a petition for a writ of habeas corpus when the prisoner was detained in that city. The petition asserts that the action of these judges amounted to a suspension of the habeas corpus privileges in violation of the constitution.

Habeas Corpus in Werner Horn Case

Boston, April 2.—A petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in the federal district court today in behalf of Werner Horn, who is under indictment for alleged interstate transportation of explosives, prior to the attempt to wreck the international railroad bridge at Vanceboro, Maine, on February 2. By order of Judge Morton, the United States marshal will produce Horn in court for a hearing on the petition next Monday.

The petition re-states the claim of the defense that Horn, as an officer of the German army and a belligerent is not answerable to the courts but to the department of state, for any acts performed in a neutral country against a nation with which his own country is at war. It alleges that Horn's removal to this state from Maine was in violation of constitutional and treaty rights because of the refusal of the federal commissioners at Bangor to receive evidence which it is alleged would have established the innocence of the prisoner; and because of Judges Putnam and Hale of the United States court in Portland are declared to have declined to consider a petition for a writ of habeas corpus when the prisoner was detained in that city. CAPT. W. D. MAYFIELD, PROMINENT BANKER AND FINANCIER DIES entered the Third South Carolina infantry as captain, also being regimental chaplain. He was in the battle of Bull Run and many other conflicts during the bloody struggle between South and North, serving in the army of Northern Virginia.

Coming to Waco in February, 1886, he engaged in the banking business in a small way. Success crowned his efforts and at the time of his death he was active president of the National City bank, the Texas Savings-Loan association and the Texas Life Insurance company, the first large reserve insurance company to make a success in the south, and of which he was the organizer and founder.

Before moving to Waco, Captain Mayfield engaged in many kinds of endeavor. He had a general store at Helena, Ark., and a drug store at Little Rock. He was publisher of various periodicals at Nashville and Memphis, Tenn., among them, the Baptist Reflector and Mayfield's Happy Home.

Mrs. Mayfield was an invalid for thirty-seven years, dying Feb. 11, 1912. Very few citizens of Waco were intimately acquainted with Captain Mayfield, as he spent most of his time either at his business or with his wife. He was a brilliant orator and a polished writer. He was known in the mood to sit at his desk when in the mood and write poetry. Many of his products he simply threw into the wastebasket. Others he saved. The following verses were written by him in September, 1914, the original copy being in the hands of his son, John D. Mayfield:

WHAT SHALL I DO?

The brave and good will dare to do,
Will dare the heights to climb,
Or meet and master every foe,
And live a life sublime.
Enough on earth to live and breathe!
Perhaps for ants that crawl,
But not for mighty men of God,
That love and duty call.

We bless the heart that throbs its way,
Down every rolling tide,
With love for all as pure and deep,
And like the ocean wide.
A soul all filled with holy love,
The precious gift of God,
Can touch and thrill all men with hopes,
And up to heaven lift.

There's much to do—take this command,
Go where the shadows fall,
And touch the suns and stars with fire—
Its merriment precious call;
The clouds and shadows backward roll—
Call down the morning light,
And flame of glory from on high,
And drive away the night.

Go down where hearts with sorrow break,
And tears like rivers flow,
Some starving soul with joy to fill—
In tender mercy so.
Out of the shinning fragments left,
Once more new temples raise,
And light again hope's altar fires,
And God in heaven praise.

Hold tight the hand that touches yours,
Along the narrow way;
Through sin and death and darkness lead,
To God's own cloudless day.
Teach men the better way to live,
And show them how to die,
Nor halt for breath the upward march
To brighter worlds on high.
September, 1914.

Arguments Close in Demand Arbitration

Chicago, April 2.—The last word in behalf of the opposing sides in the arbitration of the demands of the engineers and firemen of western railroads was spoken here this afternoon when Warren S. Stone, head of the locomotive engineers, concluded his oral argument.

A stipulation was entered into by which time limit for the handing down of an award was extended from April 20 to April 30. The board of which the neutral members are Judge Peter C. Fritchard, of North Carolina, and Charles Nagel, St. Louis, former secretary of commerce and labor, may, if their work is completed, render the award at any time before the 30th.

The case has been on hearing since Nov. 30 last, and is said to have been the most elaborate and searching arbitration of an industrial case in the history of the country.

Stratton's Stock Will Be Sold Under an Expert Manager

R. T. Dennis & Co. Secures Harry A. Dorman of San Francisco to Handle Sale.

Harry A. Dorman, expert furniture sales manager of San Francisco, has been secured by R. T. Dennis & Co. to conduct the sale of the Stratton stock, beginning Monday morning. The stock will be sold at the store-room now occupied by Stratton's, northwest corner of Sixth and Austin, and Mr. Dennis says that furniture will be offered at prices that will prove a genuine surprise to all purchasers.

As has been announced, the entire Stratton stock has been purchased by R. T. Dennis & Co. The building will be remodeled and divided into smaller stores and for that reason it is absolutely necessary to dispose of the stock as rapidly as possible. An efficient corps of salesmen will assist Mr. Dorman in the sales and it is promised that the very best of service will be given.

The Stratton stock was absolutely modern and up-to-date and the furniture offered at this sale consists of goods of high quality. But, as Mr. Dennis says, price is absolutely no object to him in this sale. He must have the building ready for the carpenters in a short time and to do this, the stock will be sacrificed.

Some of the bargains to be offered will be shown in tomorrow's issue of the Morning News, but space will not permit of even mentioning the many household articles and pieces of furniture which will be offered to the residents of Waco and Central Texas in this sale.

Turkish Capital Is Expecting Disaster

London, April 3, 3:01 a. m.—"Travelers from Philadelphia arriving yesterday," says the Times' Sofia correspondent, "report public feeling in Constantinople as greatly depressed. It is generally feared that a great catastrophe is impending."

"Munitions are running short and the hope of obtaining fresh supplies through Roumania and Bulgaria has been abandoned. The exodus from the capital continues and the removal of the seat of government to Asia Minor seems virtually decided upon."

Reuters' Sofia correspondent reports feverish activity in preparing the defenses of Turkey. He says that the Entente with German officers, has examined in recent days all the forts at Adrianople and Kadikoi and also visited the new town of Mustafapasha east of Adrianople in order to raise the spirits of the Mussulmans.

"The Turks," the correspondent continues, "are busy building new forts at San Stefano on the western north-south of Constantinople on the Sea of Marmora, where they are installing heavy calibre guns and trying to make the line of defenses as strong as those at Chataldja. Thousands of troops employed in the ammunition factories."

Dr. Young Qualifies as Superintendent S. W. Insane Asylum

Austin, Tex., April 2.—Dr. Beverly T. Young of San Antonio, who was elected superintendent of the Southwestern Insane Asylum yesterday, qualified today, filed his bond of $10,000 with the state treasurer given by a surety company and received his commission from the governor. Dr. Young will assume charge of the asylum tomorrow.

Up to late this afternoon the governor had not received the resignations of Vories P. Brown and H. G. Staacke as members of the board of managers, said to have been mailed last night. Mr. Brown and Mr. Staacke were holdovers from the board and they favored the retention of Dr. F. S. White as superintendent. When the board elected Dr. Young, made possible by the governor's removal of W. C. Rigby, Mr. Brown and Mr. Staacke decided to tender their resignations.

New Picture of James R. Mann, Power in Congress

Chicago, April 2.—William Shipman, a locomotive engineer, was found guilty tonight of the murder of Albert Black, 20 years old, and his punishment fixed at fourteen years' imprisonment.

Mrs. Eleanor Black, mother of the murdered youth, who testified favorably for the defendant, insisting her son had been the aggressor in the trouble which resulted in the stabbing, expressed indignation when the verdict was read.

"I don't see how twelve men could reach such a verdict," she said. "He should have been acquitted."

Six other children of Mrs. Black were in court and all refused to speak to their mother. Shipman had been a boarder in the Black home for several years.

Set Third Date for Execution.

Little Rock, Ark., April 2.—For the third time Governor Hays will be obliged to set a new date for the execution of Joe Strong, an Italian, and Clarence Dewein, sort of a saloonist of Belleville, Ill. Both are under 21. They were to have been electrocuted Tuesday for the murder of an aged storekeeper at Bentonville, Ark. More than a year ago, but today Circuit Judge Evans at Benton granted the application of Dewein's attorneys for the impeding of a jury to investigate Dewein's sanity. This automatically stays the execution of Dewein and when the governor was informed tonight of the court's action he said he would grant a reprieve to Strong.

Chicago, April 2.—A jury in the probate court which has been hearing testimony since January on a petition requesting the appointment of a conservator for Franklin Newhall, non-agearian apple merchant whose estate is reported worth about $1,000,000, returned a verdict today finding the defendant of sound mind and capable of managing his own affairs.

Sling Shots With Dynamite Missiles Used by Mexicans

San Antonio, Tex., April 2.—A message from Matamoros says that sling shots have been introduced in the Mexican armies as a new weapon. Unlike the sling shot used by David against Goliath, the ammunition is not smooth pebbles, but dynamite, and is fired in short pieces of gas pipe and closed in by fuses. The Villa army is supplied with hundreds of the sling shots and the Carranzistas also have a supply. In fact, the Villistas charge that sling shots were used against them in the fight before Matamoros.

Witnesses of the fight among the American army officers describe three distinct reports heard in the battle. One was rifle shots, another the machine guns and a third detonation they could not determine, as it differed considerably from cannon shots. Alfonso Garza, a standard bearer in the Villa army, 19 years old, was the hero of the battle before Matamoros. Wounded unto death, after two of his comrades had fallen with the flag, he picked up the silk tri-colored emblem and attempted to plant it on the Carranzista breastworks when a bullet brought him down. Determined to save the flag if possible, he wrapped it around his bleeding body as he rolled to the ground. The Carranzista recovered the flag-enshrined body and gave the boy soldier decent burial.

The conference committee of the City Federation will meet with Rev. Hightower and Miss Kilpatrick in the Waco hotel at 10 o'clock this morning, when plans will be gone into in detail.

Burglars in Market Do Much Damage

Cash register standing wide open, covered with a drapery of steaks, Bologna sausages and steaks hanging from convenient projections all around the place, hams, bacon and other solid meats hacked into bits and scattered all about the floor, bottles from which the milk had been poured upon the floor, piled around, was the sight that met policeman's eyes last night when they responded to a call that the meat market, owned by T. A. Pundt at 422 Webster street had been burglarized. A burgling attempt was made to open an iron safe in the market. Officers believe the mischief was done by boys frequenting the market. The safe was in the bakery store, which is next door to the market. Every door and window of the market was open when the police arrived. No money was put in the register, as the proprietor had put his cash in the safe.

Palacios, Tex., April 2.—Late yesterday afternoon the launch Tama-hawk, run by Roy Van Horn, was wrecked by an explosion of gasoline half a mile from shore. Burning oil covered Van Horn, who saved himself by jumping into the water. The boat was a total loss, burning to the water's edge and sinking. Van Horn will recover.

Express Train Runs Wild; Engineer Dead

New York, April 2.—With its engineer dead at his post, the Knickerbocker express, bound from Boston to New York on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, ran wild for nearly a mile just outside this city tonight. The train, which was brought to a halt by a fireman who jumped to the throttle as the body of the engineer fell into the cab.

The engineer, Charles A. McConnell, aged 48, a veteran in the New York service, had leaped out of the electric locomotive after passing Woodlawn, when another passenger struck and killed him instantly.

No Prohibition Yet in Army. Washington, April 2.—When Secretary Garrison's views were sought today on the subject of prohibition in the army he said he was so busy planning a reorganization of the country militia that he would "prohibit" when he had brought the army up to what he believed to be its proper size.

To introduce a dry order into the regulations at present, Mr. Garrison said, "would be like taking a bottle from a baby."

Describe Flight of Missionary Family From Kurd Attack. Rutland, Vt., April 2.—The flight of a missionary family from attacks of the Kurds in the district of Azerbaijan, Persia, and some of the fighting between Russians and the native tribes in that country are described in a letter just received here from Mrs. Florence White Oster, wife of a Seventh-Day Adventist missionary.

Mrs. Oster, writing from Tabriz, tells of the sacking and burning of the village of Meendob by the Kurds and of her subsequent flight with her husband and their child from Maragha, when the tribesmen threatened that they would kill them.

"Children were thrown into icy rivers and women were treated dreadfully during the sacking of Meendob," according to the letter. "We left Maragha by night with the Russian army of 8,000 men retreating from Meendob. I rode the horse with our four weeks-old baby, while Mr. Oster led him. That first night and day I kept the saddle for fourteen hours without a rest."

"Can't Stand for Thompson" Meeting Cause Chicago Riots. Chicago, April 2.—Disorder seldom equalled in the political history of Chicago marked the meeting late today of the "Can't Stand for Thompson Club." Women active in the mayoralty campaign led the demonstrations. The police were called, several men were ejected and none of the speakers were able to speak more than a few words because of the din and disorder.

Prohibitionists, socialists, republicans and democrats alike were hooded. Well known women stood on the seats and urged their partisans to further demonstrations.

Thousands were turned from the downtown theatre where the attempt to hold the meeting was made.

PUGILISTS TRAINING BETWEEN DOWNPOURS

JOHNSON INSISTS ON EXHIBITION WITH MEVEY TODAY IN SPITE OF WARNINGS.

CROWDS POURING TO HAVANA

Negro Claims to Be in Fine Condition. Betting Now Is 8 to 5.

Havana, April 2.—Jack Johnson and Jess Willard trained today between heavy downpours of rain for their championship fight on Monday. The storm and a high wind made the task unpleasant. The road work in the early morning was light owing to the wet and slippery roads. Their exercises at the afternoon exhibitions were of a harder nature, particularly in the case of Willard.

The challenger went through his stunt in a sawdust-covered ring before a large holiday crowd, every one of which paid 40 cents admission. Willard boxed three rounds each with Hemphill, Savage and Monahan, showing unusually good form. His fighting was the best he had shown thus far. He tried using the crouch this afternoon. He was fast with his left, occasionally using his right, and slugged with Savage and Monahan at times. After boxing he wrestled and threw the medicine ball.

Johnson worked this afternoon before a moving picture machine, deserting the regular ring for a restricted space on the floor. He boxed eight rounds with Miller Scott and Bell. His final round, which was with Bell, lasted eight minutes and the champion joked with the spectators as he finished, showing no sign of exhaustion. Johnson's masterly boxing skill is still a marvel to the Havana people.

Johnson Insists on Exhibition.
There is much uneasiness among members of the fight syndicate over Johnson's intention to box Sam McVey ten rounds on Saturday. Apparently, the amount of argument can change the champion's mind. He says that those of the public who have bet on him are entitled to get a final line on his fine condition. The bout Saturday, he asserts will not be a fight but a hard, fast exhibition.

He declares as champion he can and should be able to protect himself against all comers at all times and that if he could not, he should retire and give others a chance at the title. Johnson said he broke him arm on Jim Johnson and then couldn't be defeated there. He has a chance of his being injured by McVey, he believes.

McVey says he wants to return to France with Johnson where he expects if Johnson is still champion, he will turn the title over to him when he announces his retirement from the ring. Johnson stated that he was not sure, but is not certain that he will give the championship to McVey as Jim Jeffries did to Marvin Hart.

No Secret Training.
The champion's continued improvement with the little public work he has done, has given rise to a story of secret training, which Johnson denies with a laugh. It is reported that he was seen boxing on his roof at daybreak with McVey, but the latter also denies the report. When asked by his friends to do more work, Johnson replied: "I am the best judge of my condition, and I am satisfied. I know that I can fight three hours at a stretch if necessary."

Some of the fight followers say they are not sure whether Johnson is in such good shape as he claims. They say that while the champion is fit in appearance they cannot tell his actual physical condition since they have not seen him in a test fight. They assert that they are sure he is slower on the offensive and defense than he was when he fought Jeffries at Reno in 1910. The battle, they believe, will go twenty rounds at least and they express the opinion that McVey will enter the ring an even-money favorite.

Many backers of Johnson apparently are not anxious for bets and Willard's followers are gaining confidence as a result. Requests for three to one odds last week dropped today to eight to five. Tom Flanagan, Johnson's chief adviser and former manager, refused to give these odds. He says he has much money to get but only at even terms and will get these before Monday.

Rain Worries Promoters.
The continued rain is worrying the promoters, although the fight is sure to be held on the date set, the pugilists, if necessary, fighting under a canopy. This would mean no moving pictures, entailing a great decrease in the profits. The moving picture men say there is no question but that they will show the films all over the world if Willard wins, owing to the popular demand. It rained hard at times during the day, and the promoters say that the storm may continue for several days.

The American fight followers are arriving on every steamer. The Key West boat, which arrived late today, having been delayed by the storm, had 250 fight fans on board. The steamers are making special trips as fast as they can cover the route.

The hotel headquarters for Americans report that all reservations have been booked. The scenes in the lobbies are like those in Broadway hotels. They are crowded with sporting men and tourists who are always talking fight and betting, although little real money has been wagered as yet.

Persons arriving from Key West tonight reported there was a big jam of travelers there, hundreds being unable to get to Cuba. Referee Welsh cabled tonight that he had been unable to get passage across and that he had chartered a special steamer which was due late tonight.

President Menocal today sent a letter to American Minister Gonzales through whom he had received information regarding the publication in the newspaper.

pers in the United States of a report that he had placed a wager on Johnson, in which the president said: "It is absolutely no truth in this report. If any more such stories are sent abroad I shall do all in my power to prevent boxing contests from taking place in Cuba in the future. Nickalls Outwits Clockers Who Would Catch Yale's Time

Philadelphia, April 2.—Guy Nickalls today outwitted the spectators who endeavored to catch the time of the Yale oarsmen in their trial spin over the Henley course on the Schuylkill river. Coach Nickalls kept the blue crew busy engaged in practice starts, and then, when the onlookers were not expecting it, he sent them at full speed over the full course.

The Yale crew displayed some of the best blade work they have shown since their arrival here when they fought the practice race over Coach Nickalls' appeared sanguine of a victory over Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania crew also was given a good workout, covering four miles at a fast clip. The Quaker's coach, Vivian Nickalls, appeared satisfied that his proteges would give a good account of themselves when they meet his brother's pupils over the course tomorrow.

THE AVENGING CONSCIENCE

AUDITORIUM.

Miss Billie Burke in "Jerry," the comedy by Catherine Chisholm "Cushing" in which she scored a big success at the Lyceum theatre, New York, last spring, will be the attraction at the Auditorium Monday, April 5.

Miss Burke has often expressed a desire to impersonate an American girl on the stage and in "Jerry" she fulfills that ambition. The girl in this piece is a precocious young miss from Chicago who falls in love with a man who has been engaged to her aunt for twenty years, breaks off that engagement and, by strategy, marries him herself. The girl—"Geraldine" is her name and "Jerry" for short—is described as a handsome, very latest, usually frank and horribly selfish, but absolutely adorable. It is the best role Miss Burke has ever had, they say. It fits her precisely, for it was written expressly for her.

After her triumph in the play in New York, Miss Burke took "Jerry" to Chicago early in the summer and there its New York success was confirmed emphatically. This season, on tour, she has been doing a regular land-office business wherever she has appeared.

As "Jerry," the popular star has an opportunity to wear several pretty girlish frocks from the very latest modes, as well as the pink pajamas that theatregoers in New York and Chicago are still talking about.

THE AVENGING CONSCIENCE.

"The writer having heard much of 'The Avenging Conscience,' a six-reel motion picture, staged by David Griffith, as suggested by 'The Tell-tale Heart,' 'Annabel Lee,' and other poems by Edgar Allan Poe, the attraction at the Hippodrome four days, which concludes with performances tomorrow, featuring Blanche Sweet, Henry Walthall and a number of other Griffith stars, was curious to see some four or five of the actors and actresses and attended the exhibition, expecting a lot for our money, the feature having been announced as the world's greatest moving picture and presenting a most remarkable screen actress in the role of Annabel Lee, and naturally our expectations soared. We were not disappointed.

"The Avenging Conscience" embodied all these things. Praise is broad cast upon the waters of this case. Words are too small to picture this film on paper. It would be like laying little pebbles beside a great mountain. Description could only excite curiosity, applied to David Griffith's masterpiece—seeing, only, will satisfy. Griffith has said something that people will listen to, but that no living man may take issue on. In the language of the street, he has "gone over the top," not that we fail to understand the film, but that we cannot criticize. Certainly, here is the greatest of motion pictures. Certainly, Griffith has done what no other man has done, and probably what no other man may do in motion pictures.

Blanche Sweet brings the "Annabel Lee" out of Edgar Allan Poe's poem into life. We shall remember her, with all her magic charm and sweetness. We saw her, as Poe did. We became the youth, who sat upon a mound of moon-mown hay, beneath a bewitching moon. We became a murderer, who saw what we had lost in "Annabel Lee," with the love of life plucking at her heart and flowing like red wine through a breast of snow and flame. Griffith made us live the part of his hero and heroine.

David Griffith, a man whom few of us have met, has made his personality felt by his work on a movie screen. Just as we see life in big pictures, regardless of our ability or inability to bring these pictures before anybody else. Moving pictures might be classed as naked thought forms.

upon which all terms depend. Language, painting, sculpture and all dramatic activity are only the terms by which these terms are expressed.

People used to think that acting was a very inconsiderable element in the making of moving pictures. Griffith has changed all that. In a Griffith film, every gesture counts. His camera catches moods and traces thoughts. The fragrance of a personality, the loveliness of a heart, the intensity of a will, the energy of the brain all pass in review in "The Avenging Conscience." This master of the films impresses all as a man of limitless ideas and spiritual insight. The thing that strikes you in "The Avenging Conscience" is the man's supreme love of all life, his reverent attitude toward all life and his seemingly supernatural understanding of all life's lights and shadows.

These things come in glad procession in "The Avenging Conscience," a baby boy, a little dog, a laughing maiden, a youth with noble brow and yearning heart, a troop of youngsters in the magic of a garden, love's first kiss, a little village indolent in the sun, an old man with the melancholia of disappointed age, a smile, a falling tear, and all that endless detail which makes for men that is explicable compound of life.

In "The Avenging Conscience," David Griffith has not made a picture of a moon, but has caught the moods of the moon with all its silent appeal to questioning, with all its soft appeal to kismet, that love, with all its gentle madness.

David Griffith has come into the life of each of us individually and all of us collectively and pictures us upon a motion picture screen, which, in its silence, is more eloquent than all speech. He stands alone, the peer, all but the god of motion pictures. All who see moving pictures owe the origin to him, for it was he who took the mechanical toy that others had built, and improved upon it a thousand times until the art of motion pictures has become recognized by at least half the population of the civilized world.

The man who made "The Avenging Conscience" is responsible for the technical inventions, the placing of the camera, settings, scenario, tempo—all the countless things that go to make the perfect picture, any picture not only his own. It was also he who educated Mary Pickford, Blanche Sweet and other stars, now famous, who became famous through the teachings of David Griffith. Henry Walthall, now perhaps the peer of film actors, began with Griffith.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, April 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade tomorrow will say:

Domestic trade gains slowly but war orders and food exports continue very heavy and in all branches of business. The big advance in cotton is a great relief to the depression in the south, while in the west high prices for farm products make for continued activity and in spite of low temperatures in the winter wheat section crop prospects are regarded as favorable.

A notable expansion of stock exchange activity is a speculative expression both of the improving business conditions and of the increasing hopes of peace. The action in removing all restrictions upon stock trading means a complete return to normal market conditions and is another notable proof of expanding financial power.

Bank clearings, commercial failures and other statistics of business, however, still reveal the wide extent and effect of the depression that was produced by the war, but it is significant that the indices of trade activity are growing better month by month. It is noteworthy that American bankers are arranging large credits for European buyers of American commodities and preparations must eventually be made for financing the governmental war effort and must be taken by the people of the several belligerent nations.

Settlement of the wage scale with sheet and tin plate workers permitting independent plants to resume, was the most noteworthy development of the week in iron and steel.

Wholesalers are displaying more interest in the footwear market. Bank clearings for the week total $2,640,732,891, a decrease of 15.4 per cent as compared with the same week last year.

WEEKLY COTTON LETTER.

New York, April 2.—Still higher prices have been reached in cotton during this last week, with October selling at 10 1/2c or 11 1/4c above December's low level. Buying has not been quite as general as on the advance of the previous week, but there has been a good deal of the week when there was evidently a disposition to even up accounts for over the Easter holidays, or pending a fresh view of the situation at the higher price level.

Heavy month-end clearances reiterated reports of reduced acreage, with a big falling off in the use of fertilizer, unreasonable weather in the south and indications of increasing activity in the advance, while buyers also have been encouraged by the continued absence of hedge selling or other pressure from actual buyers.

At the same time, the talk around the ring has reflected more or less hesitation or uncertainty with some traders little disposed to follow the advance, owing to the fact that contract prices are now considered above a parity with mid-week quotations in the southern markets and apprehensions that a further advance might encourage farmers to put in a larger crop than previously intended.

While delivery of new crop development have been small, the New York warehouse stock has been steadily increasing, amounting to more than 143,000 bales, and many buyers have been anxious of grading and arbitrations begin to work more smoothly under the Lever law, there is a readjustment of relative values. Meanwhile, local buyers feel that with exports to the end of March aggregating more than 6,500,000 bales, predictions of a new crop development are likely to be realized, even if the movement now shows the expected falling off as a result of the British blockade and reports from the dry goods trade have strengthened confidence in domestic consumption of approximately 6,000,000 bales of new crop development from the present crop of about 2,750,000. The value of this surplus, however, is expected to depend largely upon the character of new crop development and the realizing of old long on the advance of this week may have been partly with a view to awaiting later news in this connection.

The Man Who Reads the "Want" Ads

stands out from the crowd—not in actual size, of course, but in energy, push and successfulness.

Away back, when "want" ads were first invented, they appealed to the most progressive people. These days, the crowd of "want" ad users and readers has so grown that it numbers almost every progressive man and woman.

You can use them for so many purposes and turn them to so many advantages.

You can choose your summer home and buy the furniture for it; you can secure a bargain in a house and secure a tenant for the house; you can secure a good used auto cheap or you can save on furniture.

These and thousands of other tasks you can do best by using the "want" ads.

Elks Will Entertain Waco Working Boys at Dinner Tomorrow

Newsboys and working boys of the city will be the guests of the Elks' club for the annual Easter dinner in the club rooms tomorrow afternoon. The Elks dinner is one of the bright spots in the year for the boys who make their living in the city, and is always long anticipated, well enjoyed, and pleasantly remembered. The dinner will be served in the club rooms of the Elks, on Franklin street, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Members of the Working Boys' Club who expect to attend the dinner are requested to meet at their club rooms, Ninth and Austin, at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. They will then go to the dinner in a body. The dinner will be served promptly at 4 o'clock, and the Elks desire that everyone be present at that time.

Charles Robertson has charge of the menu, which insures that the boys will have all that a boy could wish.

Meeting of Ginners of Central Texas to Be Held Monday

To discuss the provisions of the new permanent warehouse law passed by the last legislature a meeting of the Central Texas Ginners' Association has been called to meet in the Young Men's Business League rooms in Waco at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. All ginners of Central Texas and all farmers and persons interested in cotton are invited to be present. Ginners claim that under the new law that there will be an additional charge of $1 per bale in extra material and work for every bale of cotton ginned in the state, making the cotton crop cost the farmers of Texas $4,500,000 additional annually, without any added benefit to the farmer. After repeated appeals from individual ginners to the legislature while in session to amend the law, ginners of the state met in Dallas a few days ago, and sent a united appeal to the governor to submit a measure repealing the permanent warehouse law to the special session of the legislature which will soon convene in Austin. The governor has stated that he is unwilling to submit the matter to the special session.

The meeting to be held here is one of a series that is being held all over the state. Dabney White of Tyler, secretary of the State Association of Ginners, will probably attend.

Dr. J. M. T. Kassell Goes on Vacation

Dr. Kassell, who will be away for about a month, will return by way of Marlin, stopping over there for a few days to take a course of treatment at the baths.

W. V. Crawford Makes Address Before Temple Ad Club

W. V. Crawford, advertising manager for Sanger Bros., and president of the Associated Advertising clubs of Texas, addressed a meeting of the Temple Ad Club held in that city last night. Mr. Crawford went to Temple yesterday afternoon, in response to an invitation extended last week. Mr. Crawford has also been invited to address the Hillsboro Ad Club next Tuesday night, and it is probable that he will accept. Mr. Crawford was forced to decline an invitation to make an address in El Paso tonight at a reception to be given to William Woodhead of San Francisco, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, by the El Paso Ad Club. The long trip to El Paso would have forced an extended absence which Mr. Crawford's business would not allow.
